

A few of our incredible Traveling Spoon hosts

LOVE FOOD AND HOSTING PEOPLE FROM AROUND THE WORLD?

Traveling Spoon connects travelers with local and authentic food experiences (from homemade meals to cooking classes) in people's homes around the world. Instead of eating at a restaurant, travelers who are interested in authentic food, meeting locals and enjoying a cultural exchange pay to dine at someone's home. Traveling Spoon was recently featured in Forbes, CNN, Times of India, Indian Express, The Travel Channel and National Geographic.

Traveling Spoon gives hosts the opportunity to make money doing what they love from their homes. With over 135+ hosts in 16 countries across Asia, Traveling Spoon is looking for more hosts in Mumbai. The ideal host serves delicious food, enjoys entertaining, showcasing their culture and speaks English. Hosts get to set their own prices, menu and availability. Interested in joining the community?

If interested, email: neha@travelingspoon.com

