NOTE-1: Kadmi, Shenshai and Fasli calendars are deemed to have begun on 21-Mar-632 CE, being the date of coronation of King Yezdegerd III. All three systems work on 12 months of 30 days each plus five days of the Holy Gathas. Also, the Fasli system uses a Leap Day during Gregorian Leap Years. However, irregular consideration of Leap Days has resulted in staggering of New Year days under all three systems.

NOTE-2: ZRE (Zarathushtrian Religious Era) is a convention introduced in 1990 CE by the Zarathushtrian Assembly of California set at the vernal equinox (Nowruz) of 1738 BCE. Hence, the ZRE calendar is 1738 years ahead of the Gregorian calendar as prevailing on 21-March of each year.The first six months under this system are 31 days each. The next five months are 30 days each. The last month is 29 days during non-leap years and 30 days during Gregorian Leap Years. This system does not use the Holy Gathas days at all.
